Another Place

I want to go to another place
A place in the middle of space
You can only go by a bike
You can do what you want with anyone you like
Come there as well, give me a bell
You can swim and there is a waterfall
Cascading around us all

July 2011:

This is a charming poem clearly expressing the wishes of an eight-year-old child. The writer makes good use of rhythm here, which is not easy to do in another language. Claire also expresses herself well using a nice variety of vocabulary.
